Backflow Prevention Device Inspectors

The New Hampshire Department of Environmental Services (NHDES) does not certify backflow prevention device inspectors. NHDES regulations reference the backflow prevention device inspector/tester certification issued by the New England Water Works Association (NEWWA). A listing of currently certified inspectors can be obtained from the NEWWA website. In order for NHDES to recognize a test, the tester must have had an active NEWWA backflow prevention device inspector/tester certification at the time the subject test is conducted.
